Business Process Outsourcing (BPO)

In our globalized business world today, companies increasingly decide to focus on their core business activities and outsource the administrative and other back-office operations to independent professionals.

Business process outsourcing is an integral part of the services offered by Rödl & Partner in the Czech Republic. Our advisors have the experience and expertise in accounting, reporting, budget planning and economic forecast both in their professional capacity and from the pursuit of their own business. Our advisors cooperate on large international projects and in addition to their native Czech, they also communicate in English, German and some even in Russian.

In the provision of our advisory services, we rely on synergies permitted by the close cooperation with other departments of our firm.
